Shattuck-St. Mary’s grades 9 through 12

Shattuck-St. Mary is a private school whose goal is to guide young people to be strong in character, mind, body and spirit for a life of learning and service.

Home to 250 students in grades 9 through 12, the Upper School campus at Shattuck-St. Mary’s is a close community of dedicated individuals.

With average class sizes of 14, our students benefit from one-on-one attention, small-class discussion and reflection, and the opportunity to delve deeply into any subject.

The curriculum includes Advanced Placement courses in 12 distinct subject areas. Our new Honors Program allows any student to thrive and to accelerate their studies, and provides highly motivated students the opportunity to excel in areas of specialized interest.

Our Center for Academic Achievement provides support, resources and instruction for students with mild learning differences.

The rigorous and engaging Upper School course curriculum prepares our students for entrance into some of the nation’s top colleges and universities.

Almost all of our faculty members live on campus, many working as dorm parents, providing a rewarding mentor relationship, insight and supervision to our boarding students.

The small community of engaged individuals with a large population of international students who hail from 15 countries helps students develop a greater understanding of the world.

Shattuck-St. Mary’s has two ice arenas. The original arena was built in 1968 and is affectionately known as "The Barn."
This field house is one of the few air-supported structures that contains a full-sized soccer field. With synthetic turf, 72-foot high ceiling, zero grade and maximum playing dimensions of 115 yards by 70 yards, this facility is ideal for soccer, lacrosse and other field sports.

In the lower level of Johnson Hall, a 110-meter rubberized running oval encircles the weight training area. The needs of the casual lifter and the interscholastic athlete are well-served by the vast array of equipment that includes a full complement of free weights, over 20 strength and conditioning machines, and 14 aerobic machines, in addition to an Olympic lifting platform and wrestling mats.

Moreover, a weight training and conditioning instructor is available to develop individual training programs for those who are serious about improving their conditioning. An indoor batting cage also be used in the infield area for off-season baseball and softball training.

The Johnson Hall Gymnasium is the home court for the Sabres' basketball and girls volleyball programs. In addition, the Crack Squad and Wooden Soldiers practice and perform in this classic space.
The Legacy golf course is a 6,500-yard, 18-hole championship facility with a course rating of 71.3 - slope 134.

The golf course, designed in 1996 by nationally accredited golf architect Garret Gill, opened for play in 1998. The center of the course is slightly hilly, with classic tree-lined fairways.

On the north side, rolling topography and prairie grass create Scottish-style links. On the south side, there are beautiful vistas with Shattuck-St. Mary’s School in the background.

Shattuck-St. Mary’s School is committed to providing the best academic opportunities for our students. Our challenging college preparatory curriculum is augmented by an Honors and Independent Study Program, and a Center for Academic Achievement that builds resources for students with mild learning disabilities.

Effective leaders are products of a progression of experiences that forge their abilities and beliefs. This is experiential learning at its best - engaging a student’s mind, body and soul in a process of learning by doing.

Added to the mix is an element of reflection, obliging student leaders to evaluate and analyze their experiences at every stage of their social, intellectual, spiritual and physical growth.

Shattuck-St. Mary’s School offers a unique college preparatory boarding school environment for students interested in dance, drama, vocal and instrumental music.

Our faculty strives to meet two objectives. First, all interested students are exposed to a broad range of experiences and are encouraged to pursue their chosen artistic discipline through high-quality literature and outstanding teaching.

Second, exceptionally talented students can pursue intensive training through daily rehearsals, private instruction, and outstanding performance and touring opportunities.

An active summer program of hockey clinics for both boys and girls, ages 12-16, completes the hockey program.

Our boarding environment provides a unique experience for all students in the Shattuck-St. Mary’s community. Learning to live independently, to interact in a close-knit community, and to problem-solve with a roommate are all skills that students at SSM cultivate during their time on campus.
